LIBRARY/ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Upsala expansion plan stalled

More students needed before $6 million project can begin

By BETH AMBROSE

WANTAGE — Upsala College has revealed plans for a $6 million complex at the Wirths campus here but college officials said construction cannot begin unless the Sussex County structure that would house 16 classrooms, a library, administrative offices, art and music studios, an auditorium and a computer center. The building is planned for a hilltop site on the 245-acre tract of land donated by Wallace Wirths to Upsala during the 1970s.

The liberal arts college has a the primary provider for the county's 2½-year-old "college without walls" program, only 23.4 percent of the students are enrolled there.

"While we can continue to operate as we are, there is absolutely no way in which Upsala College can invest more than $6 actually becomes the main supplier of educational programs as originally proposed," he said.

This fall, 1,438 county students are taking courses or programs through the commission, according to SCCC figures. Of those students, 758 are enrolled at County College of Morris, 344 are

Soviet role in conflicts is charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, declaring "we are a nation with global responsibilities," says U.S. troops are in Lebanon and Grenada to protect America's interests against a Soviet "network of surrogates and terrorists."

The president went on nationwide television Thursday night to address the concerns of an American public shaken by the startling deaths of more than 200 Marines and sailors in Beirut and the invasion of the tiny island of Grenada.

IN STRONG terms he defended U.S. actions on both fronts and blamed the Soviets for encouraging the troubles in Lebanon and Grenada.

"The events in Lebanon and Grenada, though oceans apart, are closely related," Reagan said. "Not only has Moscow assisted and encouraged the violence in both countries, but it provides direct support through a network of surrogates and terrorists."

"It is no coincidence," he said, "that when the thugs tried to wrest control over Grenada, there were 30 Soviet advisers and hundreds of Cuban military and paramilitary forces on the island."

And he noted that 7,000 Soviet advisers and technicians are in Syria, which he said "makes no secret of

U.S. vetoes U.N. censure

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States, abandoned by its allies and berated as an aggressor by its foes, cast a veto in the U.N. Security Council early this morning to block a resolution condemning armed intervention in Grenada.

Without the veto, the resolution would have been adopted 11-1, with three abstentions.

In opposing the resolution during debate Thursday night, U.S. Ambassador Jeane J. Kirkpatrick said the the U.S.-led invasion of Grenada was necessary to put down "an authentic reign of terror" on the Caribbean island following the murder of its prime minister.

its claim that Lebanon should be a part of a greater Syria."

HE OPENED his address with a reminder of another Soviet act: "Some two months ago, we were shocked by the brutal massacre of 269 men, women and children, more than 60 of them Americans, in the shooting down of a Korean airliner.

Soviet Union, Poland, China, Jordan, Malta, Pakistan, Guyana, Nicaragua and Zimbabwe.

"Now," he added, "in these past several days, violence has erupted again."

Latin countries braced for war

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Honduras is asking for closer links with the United States because it expects war with leftist Nicaragua, and a Nicaraguan spokesman says a U.S. invasion of his country is imminent.

Citing the prospect of war with Nicaragua, Honduras said Thursday it had asked to become an associated free state of the United States, much like Puerto Rico, a U.S. commonwealth. It requested the "indefinite presence of U.S. troops on Honduran soil."

MEANWHILE, Nicaraguan army Capt. Hugo Torres, a political liaison with his country's armed forces, said Thursday the U.S.-led invasion on Grenada "is a prelude to an invasion of Central America ... But (the United States) are going to get bogged down in Nicaragua and the consequences will be serious..."

In Tegucigalpa, military chiefs from Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala and Panama ended a strategy session in which, according to sources, they discussed the alleged threat posed by Nicaragua rulers to Central American security.

Also Thursday, the foreign ministers from Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama announced they will join their counterparts from El Salvador, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras and Costa Rica on Nov. 17-19 in Panama for another meeting to seek a way to avert war between Nicaragua and its neighbors by demilitarizing the region.

NICARAGUA has threatened military action against Honduras and Costa Rica if attacks by CIA-backed rebels based in those two countries do not cease.

Good news for economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's main economic forecasting gauge rose 0.9 percent in September, the Commerce Department said today.

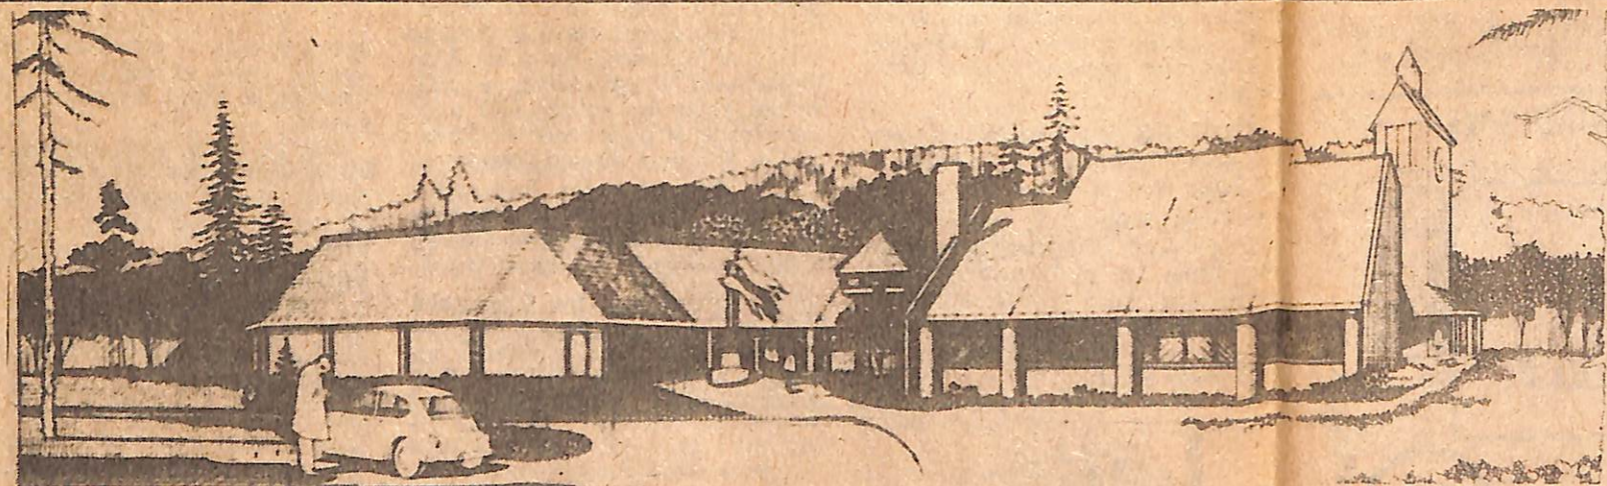

The increase, the 13th straight monthly gain, appeared to be another indication the economy would continue to grow at a more moderate pace into next year.

The forecasting gauge, the Index of Leading Economic Indicators, is a compilation of a dozen forward-pointing statistics covering manufacturing, employment, prices and other areas.

The department revised its August figure up from a previously reported 0.1 percent decline to a 0.3 percent increase and July's down from a 0.8 percent gain to a 0.6-percent gain.

The September, August and July advances were the smallest of the year.

By comparison, the index jumped 3.1 percent in January, as the economy headed for the booming second quarter.

Short-term lake solutions proposed

HOPATCONG — More local authority and millions of federal and state dollars are needed to permanently clean up dying Lake Hopatcong, according to a recently completed restoration plan.

But the plan, presented by the Lake Hopatcong Regional Planning Board Thursday night, says none of that money will likely be available in the near future. As a result, it proposes a series of specific short-term measures to raise funds locally and begin permanent lake management.

As stated in past studies, sewerage the overbuilt lakeside communities and rerouting toxic-laden storm water runoff are the ultimate answers, said Dr. John Koppen, who prepared the two-year study.

SEPTIC leakage and storm water runoff comprise 89 percent of the lake's pollution, his report said.

Officials agree costs for these projects cannot be borne solely by the four communities surrounding the lake. State and federal funding, which may be five to 10 years away, are an unquestionable necessity, he said.

Citing this long timetable, Koppen, of Princeton Aqua Sciences, keyed Thursday night on a series of comparably cheaper methods to curb rampant weed growth and start filtering toxic metals from storm water.

Financed through a combination of proposed local lake user fees and state aid, weed harvesting, lake management, public education and pilot storm drain projects can be implemented more readily, Koppen said.

IMPLEMENTING the short-range measures would cost an estimated

Fortune cookie court convenes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Amid shouted insults, an unruly crowd and a possibly prejudicial pastry, the judge at the self-appointed "San Francisco Court of Historical Review" decided the origin of the humble fortune cookie was in the city by the Bay.

The question before the court Thursday was whether the fortune cookie came from San Francisco or Los Angeles.

But there may be grounds for appeal, since a message tucked into a cookie had advised San Francisco Superior Court Judge Daniel M. Hanlon that "SF Judge who Rule for Los Angeles No Smart Cookie."

Witnesses had suggested the fortune cookie was either Japanese or Chinese in origin, or even a morsel concocted along the lines of Italian tortellini with the help of a computer. The judge thought Marco Polo had something to do with it.

Hearty applause greeted the San Francisco ruling, while counsel for Los Angeles scowled and spoke darkly of possible appeal.

San Francisco Supervisor Louise Renne represented San Francisco, while Los Angeles was represented by local attorney Frank D. Winston, who showed up in a silk Mandarin gown, tasseled Chinese hat and tennis shoes.

The counselors sat at the same table, behind a fat plastic bag of fortune cookies.

Winston, flipping his tasseled cap, told the court, "The true origin of the fortune cookie should be determined by this court to be April 18, 1907, throughout California ... everyone has a piece of it."

Former San Francisco Postmaster Lim P. Lee testified that his relatives had left no doubt in his mind the fortune cookie came from San Francisco.

In a flurry of red tassels, Winston leaped up to shout, "He's disqualified. That's hearsay!" The judge looked bored. Winston objected again, accusing Lee of eating the message in his fortune cookie.

Businessman Joseph Quan testified that the Japanese had "invented the fortune cookie" and the credit.

Towns taking measures to ensure safe Halloween

By TRUDIE WALZ
Staff Writer

For all its festivity, Halloween is being taken seriously by many Sussex County communities this year.

Among efforts to keep the scares of Halloweens past from recurring, local governments have found it necessary to impose curfews and designate door-to-door trick-or-treating hours.

Those communities instituting curfews over the weekend and on Monday include Vernon, Sparta, Franklin, Andover Borough and Green Township.

HOWEVER, other communities are taking a different approach. "Certainly patrols will be very alert to the problems inherent in trick-or-treating," Hopatcong Police Chief David DiMarco said Thursday.

Although a specific curfew for Halloween was not announced, DiMarco said that police will be on hand to ensure safety.

"We're going to take a no-nonsense attitude with children who are doing malicious damage," said Byram Police Chief Eskil Danielson. "We're going to warn children they will be brought in if they have eggs, soap or paint, and they will be prosecuted to make restitution."

Danielson said parents should be aware they will be liable for any damage incurred by their child.

AMONG holiday activities planned in the county are:

- In Branchville, Monday between 3:30 and 6 p.m. has been designated trick-or-treating time. A parade, meeting in the center of the borough, follows at 6:30 p.m.
- In Byram, the Youth Guidance Council is sponsoring a masquerader's ball at the C.O. Johnson Field House on Roseville Road. Festivities begin tonight at 7 o'clock.

Policemen's Benevolent Association is sponsoring a party and parade on Monday from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Civic Center on Lakeside Boulevard.

- The Lafayette Fire Department is planning a party for Lafayette youngsters at the firehouse on Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

- Newton will host a parade beginning at 6:30 p.m. Monday. Line up will be on Adams street.

- Ogdensburg's Halloween parade will begin at the firehouse on Monday at 6 p.m.

- Sparta minors will observe a curfew of 9:30 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

- In Stanhope, masqueraders will line up for a parade in the municipal parking lot at 6:30 tonight. Costume judging and refreshments will follow.

- In Sussex, the local Kiwanis will

Upsala

SINCE UPSALA was designated the primary provider under a three-year contract with SCCC, more students should be taking courses through the Wirths campus, according to Felder.

The Wirths campus presently has administrative offices and a library but classes are held off-campus at the National Community Bank building in Sussex and at High Point Regional High School.

Although Upsala was designated the main source for county students, SCCC president Dr. William Apetz maintains Upsala's "limited number of programs" results in more students opting for County College of Morris or other institutions. SCCC also has program contracts with Ramapo, Passaic, Union and East Stroudsburg colleges.

Under a sliding scale payment plan, Upsala's tuition is now $98 per credit hour, the same as last year. Tuition rates would decrease as SCCC enrollment figures increased.

But Apetz said large numbers of students opt for business-oriented programs and favor the CCM program. He said Upsala has just begun its computer program this year.

ANOTHER SOURCE of controversy is the large number of students enrolled in three-credit courses at SCCC educational centers, said Apetz.

While Upsala would like students to enroll in such courses through the Wirths campus, it is more convenient for the students and "more economical" for the county to hold classes at the county's 13 educational sites, he said.
